What is it like to attend this school?

The supportive and welcoming atmosphere within this school is evident from arriving at St Luke's. Pupils arrive each morning with great enthusiasm. They are very proud to attend this school. The school has created a culture that includes everyone.

Pupils, including those with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND), achieve exceptionally well across the curriculum. This is because the school works extremely well to eliminate pupils' barriers to learning. Children in the early years achieve exceptionally well and thrive socially from the well-thought-out curriculum. They are very well prepared for Year 1.

Pupils feel very safe in school. Their behaviour is excellent. They enjoy spending time with one another and they play happily together at breaktimes. Pupils look out for the well-being of their peers and support each other if they are upset.

The school provides an exemplary range of experiences and opportunities for pupils. They carefully consider which activities best support and enrich pupils' personal development. For example, the work on future skills and careers prepares the pupils exceptionally well for their lives beyond primary school. Pupils are well prepared for their future.

What does the school do well and what does it need to do better?

The school is very effective in identifying the needs of pupils with SEND. It ensures that children in the early years, and pupils throughout the rest of the school, receive the support that they need to succeed. Teachers make suitable adaptations in lessons. As a result, pupils with SEND learn confidently alongside their peers.

The school has crafted a highly effective and ambitious curriculum. Teachers' subject knowledge is consistently excellent across the broad curriculum. All staff are very well supported to gain the knowledge and expertise that they need to deliver the curriculum very well. Staff coach and support each other to reflect on and refine the way that they teach to become even better. They feel very well supported by the school to manage their workload and this enables them to focus their time on pupils' learning. Pupils achieve exceptionally well across all areas of the school's curriculum.

Staff in the early years are expertly trained to ensure their interactions with children are of a high standard, consistently modelling ambitious vocabulary. This supports children in using similar vocabulary to describe their learning. Children are prepared exceptionally well for the key stage 1 curriculum.

Early reading is given a high priority. Stories, songs and nursery rhymes engage children's enthusiasm for reading in the early years. The phonics programme starts as soon as children begin in the Reception class. This ensures that children acquire the phonics knowledge they need to begin to read. As pupils move into key stage 1, they become more fluent readers. Any pupils who need additional support are identified very quickly and helped to catch up as swiftly as possible. Older pupils become passionate about reading. This is because of the opportunities that they have to engage in different activities that promote their desire to read for pleasure.

Pupils understand the expectations that staff have for their behaviour. The school environment is calm and orderly. The consistent high standard of work throughout the school reflects pupils' highly positive attitudes to their learning. Children in the early years consistently demonstrate concentration, resilience and problem-solving skills. They follow well-embedded routines and interact with each other very positively, turn taking and sharing in the provision. Attendance is high. The school has acted diligently in instances when the attendance rates for individual pupils are low. The school supports families to make improvements, when this is needed.

Pupils receive an exceptional range of opportunities to develop their talents and interests. These include well-attended clubs, such as sports, choir and mindfulness. The 'Pupil Offer Promise' sets out termly experiences for each pupil. This includes visitors to school, outdoor learning, arts and cultural experiences and trips within the local area and beyond. Pupils are confident in how to keep themselves safe online and in the community. They know how to keep themselves physically and mentally healthy.

Governors are extremely committed to their roles. They work closely with the school to provide highly effective support and challenge. They go to great lengths to assure themselves of the impact of pupils' education. Parents and carers are very positive about the school and appreciate the support that their children receive.

During a graded inspection, we grade the school for each of our key judgements (quality of education; behaviour and attitudes; personal development; and leadership and management) and for any relevant provision judgement (early years and/or sixth form provision). Schools receiving a graded inspection from September 2024 will not be given an overall effectiveness grade.

- Inspections are a point-in-time evaluation about the quality of a school's education provision.
- This was the first routine inspection that the school received since the COVID-19 pandemic began. The lead inspector discussed the impact of the pandemic with the school and has taken that into account in their evaluation.
- Inspectors carried out deep dives in these subjects: early reading, mathematics, geography and art and design. For each deep dive, the lead inspector held discussions about the curriculum, visited a sample of lessons, spoke to teachers, spoke to some pupils about their learning and looked at samples of pupils' work.
- Inspectors considered the curriculum in some other subjects.
- Inspectors spoke with the headteacher, other leaders and members of staff. The lead inspector spoke with members of the governing body.
- The lead inspector spoke with representatives of the local authority and the diocese.
- To evaluate the effectiveness of safeguarding, inspectors reviewed the single central record; took account of the views of leaders, staff and pupils; and considered the extent to which the school has created an open and positive culture around safeguarding that puts pupils' interests first.
- Inspectors observed pupils' behaviour during lessons and around school. They also observed pupils while they played outside.
- Inspectors spoke with groups of pupils about their experiences at school.
- Inspectors considered the responses to Ofsted Parent View, including the free-text comments. They also met with parents before school. There were no responses to the pupil and staff online surveys.
