Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- Through discussion, the childminder demonstrates that she knows how to promote children's learning and development. She describes how she will plan enjoyable and inclusive activities to help all children to learn. She explains how she intends to monitor children's progress, including the two-year-old progress check to identify possible gaps in their learning.
- The childminder understands the importance of helping children to lead a healthy lifestyle. She demonstrates how she will provide healthy, nutritious meals and snacks for children. The childminder intends to provide plenty of opportunities for children to play outside. She wants children to learn about nature and the world around them through a range of local community events.
- The childminder describes how she will be a good role model and promote positive behaviour. She is aware of promoting consistent boundaries to help children to feel safe and secure.
- The childminder recognises the importance of working in partnership with parents and other settings that children attend. She plans to share information about children's progress with their parents and additional settings. This will help to provide a consistent approach to children's care and education.
- The childminder evaluates her service well. She gains advice and support from the local authority and asks for feedback from parents and children. The childminder has developed her resources and the opportunities she provides for children to extend their learning.
- The childminder describes how she will keep children safe and protect them from harm. She is aware of the signs and symptoms that may raise concerns about a child's safety. She demonstrates a good understanding of the local procedures to follow to report any concerns that she may have about children's welfare. Additionally, the childminder shares how she intends to complete training to keep her safeguarding knowledge up to date.

There were no children in the early years age range present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no early years children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- This was the first routine inspection the provider received since the COVID-19 pandemic began. The inspector discussed the impact of the pandemic with the provider and has taken that into account in her evaluation of the provider.
- The inspector looked at relevant documentation, including the suitability of members of the household and paediatric first-aid qualifications.
- The childminder and inspector discussed how the childminder intends to deliver educational programmes for children.
- The inspector reviewed with the childminder how she will safeguard children and how she will evaluate her provision to strive for continuous improvement.
- The inspector looked at written feedback from parents to gain their thoughts and opinions about the setting.
- The childminder showed the inspector the areas of the premises that are used for childminding.

We carried out this inspection under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.
