Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands her duty to safeguard children. She knows the possible signs that may indicate a child is at risk of harm and who to report her concerns to. She knows how to keep the premises safe and secure to help keep children safe while they are in her care.
- The childminder knows how to provide a challenging curriculum for children to support their learning and development, and to help them make good progress.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnerships with parents and other professionals. She knows how to establish a consistent approach to help support children's individual needs and learning experiences.
- The childminder recognises the importance of seeking professional development opportunities to help keep her knowledge and skills up to date.
- The childminder knows how to encourage children to behave well. She understands how to support children's physical well-being, such as through a healthy diet and regular exercise.

There were no children in the early years age range present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no early years children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- This was the first routine inspection the provider received since the COVID-19 pandemic began. The inspector discussed the impact of the pandemic with the provider and has taken that into account in their evaluation of the provider.
- The childminder spoke to the inspector about their intentions for children's learning.
- The childminder provided the inspector with a sample of key documentation on request.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder to assess her understanding of the statutory requirements.
- The childminder showed the inspector the premises and discussed how they intend to ensure they are safe and suitable.

We carried out this inspection under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.
