Summary of key findings for parents

The provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder does not have a robust understanding of wider aspects of safeguarding, including the 'Prevent' duty.
- The childminder is aware of how to keep children safe. For example, she completes risk assessments and has an up-to-date paediatric first-aid certificate.
- The childminder understands the importance of working with parents. For example, she knows the benefits of gathering information about children's starting points in learning. She knows how to make regular assessments of children's progress and to use the information to plan a range of challenging and exciting activities.
- The childminder values diversity and describes the importance of teaching children to respect others.
- The childminder is able to explain how she intends to liaise and work with outside agencies to support children's needs.
- The childminder describes how she plans to reflect on her practice and make changes to benefit children.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

What the setting needs to do to improve further

To meet the requirements of the early years foundation stage and the Childcare Register the provider must:

	Due Date
improve knowledge and understanding of the 'Prevent' duty and wider aspects of safeguarding.	17/06/2018

Inspection activities

- The inspector viewed the indoor and outdoor areas that are to be used for childminding purposes.
- The inspector viewed a range of documents including a sample of policies and procedures and records to be used.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about how she intends to meet the requirements of the early years foundation stage.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the educational programmes, including how she plans to observe and assess children's development.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
