

Childminder Report

Inspection date	20 March 2018
Previous inspection date	19 July 2016

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Met

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands her responsibility to safeguard children. She knows how to recognise and respond to concerns about a child's welfare and how to keep her home safe for children.
- The childminder knows how to monitor children's progress, in order to plan learning experiences that children will enjoy and which will help them to make progress.
- The childminder knows how to promote children's good health. For example, she understands the importance of children following good hygiene routines.
- The childminder knows how to make children feel valued and safe. For example, she knows how to help children settle into her care and how to teach them right from wrong.
- The childminder understands the value of working in partnership with parents to provide a consistent approach to children's care and education.
- The childminder understands the importance of keeping her knowledge up to date, in order to fulfil the requirements of her role.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the requirements of the early years foundation stage.
- The inspector spoke to the childminder about her understanding of safeguarding, child protection and first aid.
- The inspector viewed the parts of the childminder's home that she plans to use when caring for children.
- The inspector sampled documentation, including policies and the childminder's qualifications.
