Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a good understanding of her responsibility to keep children safe from harm. She knows the procedures to follow to report any safeguarding concerns she may have about children in her care.
- The childminder explains how she intends to plan a broad curriculum. She is aware of the benefits of conducting regular observations of children to identify their next steps in learning. She understands the importance of sharing information about children's progress with parents to support children's learning at home.
- The childminder explains how she will promote healthy lifestyles and care practices. She knows the importance of providing a balanced and healthy diet and how to support children to learn to manage their personal care needs. She plans to provide regular opportunities for children to be active, including visits to the local park and woods where they can gain fresh air and exercise.
- The childminder understands how to manage children's behaviour appropriately and build strong relationships with them. She knows the importance of supporting children to develop respect for others different to themselves.
- The childminder understands the importance of partnership working with parents and other professionals to maintain continuity of care and learning.
- The childminder knows how to evaluate her practice and access ongoing professional development. For example, she completes regular training to help develop her knowledge and skills and improve outcomes for children.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
