The provision meets requirements

- The childminder demonstrates a sound understanding and knowledge of the learning and development requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage. Through discussion she gives examples of activities, toys and resources she can use to support children in all areas of learning.
- The childminder is able to identify external agencies and professionals she can contact to support children with special educational needs and/or disabilities or English as an additional language. The childminder can describe methods she can use to support all children.
- The childminder has established effective methods to track children's progress. Through discussion, she demonstrates her understanding of why she should monitor children's learning and development.
- The childminder is able to describe the importance of providing children with a healthy diet and ensuring they have daily opportunities to experience fresh air and exercise. She has established house rules and understands how to positively manage children's behaviour.
- The childminder has sound knowledge of child protection procedures and fully understands her responsibility to protect the welfare of the child.
- The childminder has met the recommendations set at her last inspection. She has reviewed and enhanced her risk assessments and practice to promote children's safety within her home, garden and on outings. Information about this inspection

Inspections of registered early years provision are:

- scheduled at least once in every inspection cycle – the current cycle ends on 31 July 2016
- scheduled more frequently where Ofsted identifies a need to do so, for example where provision was previously judged inadequate
- brought forward in the inspection cycle where Ofsted has received information that suggests the provision may not be meeting the legal requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage or where assessment of the provision identifies a need for early inspection
- prioritised where we have received information that the provision is not meeting the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage and which suggests children may not be safe
- scheduled at the completion of an investigation into failure to comply with the requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage.

There were no children on roll when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children on roll, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

The provision is also registered on the voluntary and compulsory parts of the Childcare Register. This report includes a judgment about compliance with the requirements of that register.

Inspection activities

- The inspector viewed the areas of the childminder's house and garden that will be used for childminding.
The inspector looked at evidence of suitability of household members and a range of other documentation, including safeguarding procedures, insurance details, qualifications and risk assessment procedures.
- The inspector discussed and viewed toys, books and resources that the childminder intends to use with children.
The inspector discussed with the childminder how she will deliver an educational programme to children and how she will monitor children's learning and developmental progress.

Type of provision

For the purposes of this inspection the following definitions apply:

Full-time provision is that which operates for more than three hours. These are usually known as nurseries, nursery schools and pre-schools and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. They are registered on the Early Years Register and pay the higher fee for registration.

Sessional provision operates for more than two hours but does not exceed three hours in any one day. These are usually known as pre-schools, kindergartens or nursery schools and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. They are registered on the Early Years Register and pay the lower fee for registration.

Childminders care for one or more children where individual children attend for a period of more than two hours in any one day. They operate from domestic premises, which are usually the childminder's own home. They are registered on the Early Years Register and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Out of school provision may be sessional or full-time provision and is delivered before or after school and/or in the summer holidays. They are registered on the Early Years Register and must deliver the Early Years Foundation Stage. Where children receive their Early Years Foundation Stage in school these providers do not have to deliver the learning and development requirements in full but should complement the experiences children receive in school.
