Previous inspection date	21 January 2015

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Met

Summary of key findings for parents

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder knows the importance of observing and assessing individual children's progress. She understands how to help them make good progress in all areas of their learning. The childminder has a wide selection of resources.
- The childminder knows her responsibility to promote children's safety and well-being, and to protect them from harm. She knows the procedures to follow should she need to make a child protection referral.
- The childminder recognises the importance of working in partnership with parents to help provide continuity for children's care and learning.
- The childminder understands how to promote children's social skills and behaviour. She knows the importance of teaching children to respect and accept each other.
- The childminder knows how to conduct risk assessments to promote children's safety in the home and outdoors. She understands how to promote healthy lifestyles.
- The childminder understands the importance of completing training and self-evaluation to make continuous improvements to the outcomes for children.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector looked at and discussed a range of records with the childminder, including policies and procedures, evidence of training certificates and the suitability of household members.
- The inspector had a tour of the premises and viewed all areas that are used when caring for children.
- The inspector had discussions with the childminder about her understanding of the safeguarding and welfare requirements.
- The inspector discussed with the childminder how she intends to deliver the educational programmes for children and undertake observation, assessment and planning.
