Summary of key findings

This provision meets requirements

- The childminder has a secure understanding of how to safeguard children. She knows how to recognise signs that may indicate a child is at risk from harm, and the procedures to follow to report any concerns.
- The childminder offers a safe and welcoming environment for children. She understands how to provide a broad range of activities and resources for children of different ages and abilities.
- The childminder knows how to identify children's starting points and to monitor their ongoing progress. She understands the importance of working closely with parents to regularly share this information, so there is consistent support for children's learning.
- The childminder has suitable procedures in place to support her in assessing all areas of her home to check that it is safe. She accesses relevant training, including for paediatric first aid, to help her cater for children's welfare needs.
- The childminder recognises the importance of continually developing her professional skills, to raise the quality of her teaching. She knows how to evaluate her practice and make improvements, to support better outcomes for children.
- The childminder understands how to guide children's behaviour and attitudes, to help them manage their feelings and respect others. She knows how to build strong relationships with them, so they enjoy their learning and feel safe and secure in her care.
- The childminder knows how to promote healthy, active lifestyles for children. This includes providing daily opportunities for outdoor play and supporting them to make healthy choices about food.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.
