Summary of key findings

This provision does not meet requirements

- The childminder does not have a clear understanding of safeguarding procedures. She does not know how to recognise signs that a child may be at risk of being exposed to extreme ideas or behaviours. She is not knowledgeable about the process for reporting potential abuse to escalate concerns regarding a child's welfare. The childminder needs to secure her understanding of safeguarding requirements.
- The childminder understands that her paediatric first-aid certificate and her public liability insurance are no longer valid. It is her responsibility to ensure that she renews her insurance and completes paediatric first-aid training to meet the early years foundation stage requirements.
- The childminder values working in partnership with parents. She recognises the benefit of working together to build continuity of care between home and her setting.
- The childminder has a clear knowledge of child development. She knows how to assess children's progress and use this information to plan next steps to support their learning and development.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

We carried out this inspection under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the early years foundation stage.

If you are not happy with the inspection or the report, you can complain to Ofsted.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory and Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, further education and skills, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
