

Childminder Report

Inspection date	14 April 2016
Previous inspection date	Not applicable

The quality and standards of the early years provision	This inspection:	Met
	Previous inspection:	Not applicable

Summary of key findings for parents

The provision meets requirements

- The childminder understands safeguarding issues. She knows how to keep children safe, for example, she carries out regular checks on the premises.
- The childminder knows how to assess children's learning and uses this information in order to help them make progress and identify gaps in learning.
- The childminder understands the importance of working in partnership with parents to provide continuity for children.
- The childminder knows how to promote children's well-being. For example, she knows the need to maintain children's good health and to provide daily opportunities for fresh air and exercise.
- The childminder understands the need to help children to respect one another and teach them to behave well.
- The childminder keeps her professional knowledge up to date. For example, she attends network meetings with other childminders and carries out online research, to help her improve the quality of her practice.

There were no children present when this inspection took place. The findings in this report are based on evidence gathered from discussions with those who care for the children and an inspection of the premises, equipment and relevant documentation. Where there are no children present, no judgement is made on the quality of the early years provision as there is no reliable evidence on which to assess its impact on children. The report states whether the provider continues to meet the requirements of registration.

Inspection activities

- The inspector checked the suitability of the rooms that are used for childminding.
- The inspector sampled relevant documentation, including the childminder's policies and procedures, which she uses when caring for children.
- The inspector held discussions with the childminder about how she delivers the educational programmes and evaluates her practice.
- The inspector checked evidence of the suitability of the childminder and those living in her household.

This inspection was carried out by Ofsted under sections 49 and 50 of the Childcare Act 2006 on the quality and standards of provision that is registered on the Early Years Register. The registered person must ensure that this provision complies with the statutory framework for children's learning, development and care, known as the Early Years Foundation Stage.

Any complaints about the inspection or the report should be made following the procedures set out in the guidance 'Complaints procedure: raising concerns and making complaints about Ofsted', which is available from Ofsted's website: www.gov.uk/government/organisations/ofsted. If you would like Ofsted to send you a copy of the guidance, please telephone 0300 123 4234, or email enquiries@ofsted.gov.uk.

The Office for Standards in Education, Children's Services and Skills (Ofsted) regulates and inspects to achieve excellence in the care of children and young people, and in education and skills for learners of all ages. It regulates and inspects childcare and children's social care, and inspects the Children and Family Court Advisory Support Service (Cafcass), schools, colleges, initial teacher training, work-based learning and skills training, adult and community learning, and education and training in prisons and other secure establishments. It assesses council children's services, and inspects services for looked after children, safeguarding and child protection.
